are you an expert "pickle

over his spell we'll have loads of fun in the

WILL AND TESTAMENT

The moving finger writes; and having writ,
Moves on: nor all your piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it.
OMAR KHAYYAM

SUCH is life, and now when it becomes our turn to move on it is with anguish in our hearts that we face the idea of forever departing from Lindblom. But as the departing finger makes one last gesture it falls to our lot to make one last will and testament. Yes, the hours we spent in work, the hours we spent in play have been deep seared in our memory and will not soon be forgotten. We shall take these memories with us into the world as an enduring thought of life at Lindblom, but since we cannot take with us all that which we cherish so much, it is necessary to leave behind those things that are only and distinctly Lindblom's.

To the Freshmen we leave the four happiest years of their life with an earnest hope that they make the most of them, the trials of algebra and Latin, their traditional inductive assembly, and the quiet solitude of the branches.

To the Sophomores we leave the rush and bustle of the corridors, and the haughty disdain of the upper classmen.

To the Junior B's we leave Miss McCall and her late study halls, the difficulty of having to learn to dance, the anticipation of their first class party, and the almost hopeless task of filling the places of those that have just gone before.

To the Junior A's we donate Mr. William's usual, "I'll see you in the Lantern Room!", Mrs. Avery's law classes and the problem of having a prom at the Stevens.

To the 4B's: The difficulty of assuming the poise and dignity which becomes the lordly senior, the "dust" of the 4A's, and Mr. C. Carlton Culbertson, more infamously known as "Culbie" and his myterious orange package that originated in the Weekly Office.

To the 4A's we bequeath the tortures of Chemistry A, the maze of American Problems, accompanied by Mr. Seney's "Quintessence of jackassidity," the high-hattedness, the influence, mistakes, and bawling-outs of all Senior A's.

To the entire faculty we leave the hopeless thought of "when the ghost walks." To each and every student we leave Mr. Keeler, a true Prince of Pals, Miss Courtenay and Mr. Moore, two of the most helpful people in the world, and the most wonderful school in the universe, "Mighty Lindblom."

The hand still moves on; we've tried to leave behind something we know and have learned, but there's something those of Lindblom have given us that we can never part with. May we thank those who gave this, may we hope for those who are to come, may we shed one tear in memory of our Alma Mater and hope that she may never be forgotten.

We of the graduating class of January, the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred, and thirty-two, do hereby attach our signatures to this last document of our class.

CLASS HISTORY

WE, the historians of the class of 1932, in order to form a more perfect school, establish justice for the remaining students, provide for the defense of the pupils against malicious teachers and secure the blessings of freedom from the evils of homework, library fines, tardy slips, and ninth hour study halls, do hereby pen the history of four long years, as a model for succeeding classes.

Now, dear readers, that you know what is in store for you, we shall proceed to tell our tale.

When we entered the school in February 1928, we were determined to make a real school out of Lindblom, take all scholastic honors, become champion athletes, develop literary geniuses, and try to produce city famous opera and dramatic stars. We did our best and here are the results.

While we were lowly freshies and sophs and no one took much notice of us, we spent all our time developing our talents so as to astonish Lindblom as upperclassmen, and what a shock she got. Before she knew it, we were up and coming 3B's, vieing with the seniors for honors, under the guidance of Miss Dixon and her able assistants, Misses McCall, Woods, George, Hampshire, Rowlands, Howatt, and the peace-keeping male, Mr. Shore.

Our first leaders were Willard Krause, the lanky football player, Athena Chrisos, the dark eyed Athenian, Marve Tennant, the dashing cavalier, and Estelle Malwecas, the platinum blonde.

Just to show how energetic we were, we wore Miss Dixon out in one semester, sent her on a trip to Europe, and adopted Miss McCall as our foster-mother.

Then came the 3A semester and with it the Prom, the night of nights, when the young man's dreams come true as he floats through the air, unmindful of the shoving crowd, with the girl of his heart's desire clasped in his manly arms. To lead us during this all important semester, we chose Marvin Tennant, Irene Kemmis, Elmer Anderson, and Grace Cashin.

About this time the heretofore unsung literary lights burst forth into prominence. Such famous Lindblomites as Virginia Prindiville, Lena Frank, William Sener, Mildred Pech, Edgar Waller, Lee Porter and Arnold Stine appeared in the limelight.

And so our 3A semester came and went and we were once more advanced. This time to the exalted position of senior B's.

Once again we went through the usual routine of electing those necessary figureheads, the class officers. This time we placed our trust in Al Ragan, Catherine Contes, Bob Forbes and Muriel Dodd. Their semester was characterized by the development of our athletic champions and our prophesied dramatic and opera stars.

Those who spent long hours after school developing strong arms, legs, and athlete's foot were Dave Sohr, Al Ragan, Stanley Evaskus, Frank Dubsky, Ed Churka and Joe Urchyk.

The girls who likewise achieved athletic honors and L's were Thelma Leet, Elizabeth Motley, Lena Frank, Mildred Mankus, Rose Szidak, and Pauline Contes.

The dramatic stars who distinguished themselves were Leslie De Vore, Clemens Kasprzyk, Bill Suggett, William Sener and Beatrice Rayfield.

The rivals of Galli Curci and Caruso were Marion Roubitchek, Belle Unterberger, Bill Spitzer, John Bibb and Harold Little.

Ah, thrill of thrills, wonder of wonders! We're actually 4A's, about to graduate. We, who four short years ago entered Lindblom's portals, our elementary school graduation pins shining with all their brand-new brilliance, have at last come to the goal of our ambitions.

Soon the time approaches for the Board of Education to guarantee that we have satisfactorily completed our Senior High school work.

Now the candidates for the valedictory are burning the midnight bulb. The keepers of the diary bring the skeletons out of the closets and put us all in embarrassing positions. Attorneys-at-law fomulate the last will and testament of the class, while we, your humble historians, sharpen our pencils and borrow school stationery in preparation for the writing of this masterpiece.

Our officers, the pride of the class, represent every field of interest, Spitzer, the scholar; Rose Szidak, the fencer; Churka, the gymnast; and Ruth Neistrom, the champion class dues collector.

So far we have told you of everyone but our scholars, and, believe it or not, we have them. They are William Spitzer, Stephanie Swanis, Mary Tudor, Grace Cashin, Arnold Stine, and Mary Elizabeth Chandler.

And now the time has come when in the course of human events it becomes necessary for us to leave our Alma Mater and bid all a fond adieu, with the sincere hope that you will not grieve too much over our departure but will use our history as a model and a guide.

LILLIAN A. ELLIS
ROBERT S. GOLDBERG

To the Graduates of January, 1932:

The time has come when as graduates you leave Lindblom to take up responsibilities in the rather troubled world of 1932. How well you will accept your opportunities will be affected by the attitude of mind that you have attained while citizens of Lindblom. This attitude of mind is your response to discouragement and difficulty, the spirit that prompts you to accept defeat as a challenge to greater accomplishment.

Practically every one of you has won recognition in an endeavor dear to you, in attaining high scholastic standing, in winning coveted honors in athletics, in achieving distinction in the arts, or in securing positions of honor and trust in the various classes and organizations throughout Lindblom. You know how effective it was for the fulfillment of your dreams that defeat be taken as a spur to further effort. How effectively this philosophy will contribute to richer living in the larger sphere of service into which you are passing, rests with you. If it has served you well at Lindblom, regard its usefulness when you become graduate citizens.

Keep with you then as you leave this courageous disposition that does not recognize as catastrophe or disaster any loss or defeat that can come to you. Keep it that life may be a thrilling adventure for you. Keep it not only for your own sake, but that it may serve as an inspiration to those who strive beside you.

My dear young friends:

You have attended high school through what have probably been the most difficult two years your parents have ever known. Many are looking forward with eagerness born of real need, to immediate material returns upon their investment of these years. For them we earnestly wish renumerative positions, in which they may prove the efficiency they have achieved. There will be many of you, however, who will do better to remain with us for another two years in order to become more proficient in your chosen line of work or to enlarge your field of opportunity.

But whether or not you are able to further your training now, we hope that these two years have so whetted your ambition that you will take advantage of the means of education that Chicago offers to all who are eager to go on. More than this, we hope that in sharing Lindblom's appreciation for good things in art, literature, and music, and in participating in the broad social experience of a big school, you will have found added means for the enrichment and enjoyment of life.

Anna Robin

Every wish for your success. Certainly will miss you. Patsy.

Lots of luck, Ed

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

THE Student Council came into being several years ago with the re-organization of the Lindblom City Government. Although it started with approximately fourteen members, this group has more than doubled its membership and its usefulness has increased proportionately. A position on the Student Council is a matter of both election and selection. A candidate for the position of division representative in the Student Government is elected by each division room. From these representatives, Mr. Keeler picks those who become members of the Council proper. The others from the group are known as the Student Congress. Both of these groups are under the direct supervision of Mr. Wines.

One of the most important projects undertaken this semester was the drawing up of a constitution under which the group might operate more effectively. The assistance offered by the Student Council in the locker inspection was the direct result of one of the suggestions made in the tentative constitution. A committee to aid in the inspection was appointed by the President, Laurence Dennis. Boleslaus Pietraszek was chosen as committee chairman by the members of the committee.

Due to the shortage of funds caused by the failure of the West Englewood Bank, the Council was unable to continue with the work of supplying the students with soap and towels. However, Student Government Pins were sold throughout the school and a part of the proceeds turned over to the Student Welfare Fund.

Among the other activities of the Council was a dance given by the Student Council, the Arena, the Forum, the Weekly Staff, and the Eagle Staff for the members of all the groups.

A survey of the numerous activities of the Council during this last semester shows that this group has closed another period of worth-while service to Lindblom.

THE SENIOR GIRLS' COUNCIL

THE chosen few, of whom the Senior Girls' Council is comprised, take an active share in the administration of all things which touch the welfare and happiness of the girls of Lindblom. They are chosen by a joint election of the faculty and their class, and are under the supervision and leadership of the energetic "Little Lady of Lindblom", Miss Mary E. Courtenay.

One of the most important of their many undertakings of the past year was the All-City High School Girls' Conference held in October, a movement which Lindblom initiated and sponsored for all the girls of the city of Chicago, and over which one of their number, Mary Tudor, presided as the first president.

Under their direction, the traditional annual All Girls' assembly was held on the eve of Thanksgiving, at which, in a "procession of opportunities" every All Girls' activity was presented in a dramatic form to the audience. Their Christmas Carol Service was an inspiring part of Lindblom's celebration of Christmas.

The council has enjoyed two outstanding Social events this semester — the Twilight Council of December 10th, and the Semester Luncheon of January.

The council meets twice a month in the social room with Miss Courtenay and Miss Edwards to discuss various problems and to outline plans and projects for the enrichment of the lives of Lindblom's girls.

THE SENIOR BOYS' COUNCIL

TO SERVE others in however humble a way, but especially Lindblom and her boys, is the object of sixteen select senior boys, known to the school as the Senior Boys' Council. Under the able guidance of the dean of boys, Mr. Moore, these boys are divided into eight committees to carry on the council's work. The Room Committee is responsible for the neatness and cleanliness of Mr. Moore's office and the Boys Club Room. The important work of the Social Committee is sponsoring the Freshman Boys' Party, held in the gymnasium, at which the coaches and various sports are introduced to the boys. The Alumni Committee keeps the records and notifies the alumni of important and necessary business. The Pep Book was not published this year because of financial conditions, but leaflets with the players' names of Lindblom and the opponents team were passed out at each league game. This was the work of the Pep Book Committee besides gathering material to pass on to the next council for next year's Pep Book. The work of the Scholarship Committee is keeping "tab" of the grades of boys participating in the various sports, a job which keeps this committee always busy. In cooperation with the vocational adviser, the charity committee does what it can to help some destitute boy toward graduation. The Building Committee scurries about doing their share toward the smoothness of life in and about school. The Records Committee accurately keep the records of the council activities.

MISS TAYLOR

LATE of a school-day afternoon, one often passes the door of a busy science class-room. Inside may be found Miss Mary Caroline Taylor, able head of Lindblom's General Science department, busily instructing a group of lively, but studious Freshmen, in the intricacies of "work-in," or "work-out," or perhaps teaching them the mysteries of vitamins and calories.

Miss Taylor claims Springfield, Illinois, as her birthplace. She received her first education from the public schools of Springfield, and attended the only high school there. She was graduated with high honors, and received a scholarship for the University of Chicago in Public Speaking.

After attending the University for two years, she delayed her education for the time being, to teach in a little country High School, with an enrollment of seventy-two pupils. Although the high school was only a small one, she received some invaluable experience. While she was teaching at this school she was head of the science department and co-head of the history.

After teaching for two years, she returned to Chicago to complete her college career. She graduated with honors, and was selected a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.

Immediately upon graduating from the University of Chicago, Miss Taylor took a teacher's examination in order to teach in Chicago schools. She passed this satisfactorily and was enabled to start teaching at once. She now proudly states that she has been with Lindblom since 1924, with the exception of one year of travel and study in Europe. During this period, 1929-30, she studied psychology in Vienna, under Dr. Alfred Adler.

Incidentally, her pet hobbies are cooking, swimming and horseback riding, and in these she excels.

Lindblom is extremely proud to say that Miss Taylor is a member of her "happy family."

SOME years ago in the little town of Ypsilanti, Michigan, a child was born who was destined to become a leading member of the Lindblom faculty. Ralph L. Small, Head of the 2B Hall, Head of the Science Department, an Administrative Aid, and former Business Adviser of the Eagle, was that boy. Since his father was Superintendent of Schools, they moved from one town to another.

Two years in a Michigan school; one year in Lockport, Illinois; and the last in Englewood on the south side of Chicago completed his high school education. Being undecided about his future occupation, he took a general course. He first became acquainted with Physics at Englewood under Mr. Willis E. Tower who made the subject so fascinating that the young lad liked it from the very beginning. Miss Viola Deratt, a literature and language teacher, had such an interesting personality that she made an indelible impression on his mind.

Then came war, that terrible monster gulping up the lives of millions of youths and ever calling for more. Just after having completed his high school life, he was drafted, being sent to a training camp down in Georgia. That was in October; the Armistice was signed in November.

Then back to Chicago and on to the University of Chicago, where he majored in chemistry, because he had hopes of becoming a chemist, and minored in physics. But under Professor Harvey B. Lemon he became more interested in physics; so he changed, majoring in physics, graduating with a Bachelor's Degree and honors, having been elected because of his splendid scholarship, to Phi Beta Kappa.

He came to Lindblom from West La Fayette High School, Indiana. Besides being interested in physics, he devotes some time to politics, economics, and especially to the social problems that have been effected or have resulted from the development of science. One of the most outstanding evidences of his ambitious nature was the obtaining of a Master's Degree in physics in 1922. Since the recent arrival of a baby daughter his interests have enlarged still further.

ASSEMBLIES

VOLTAIRE said that the ability to remember is a priceless treasure of mankind. Lindblom, realizing the truth of this statement, does not wish to have her students carry away memories of chemistry tests and English themes. She wants the memory of our high school days to be synonymous with happiness. One way to reach this end is by having assemblies. Besides breaking the routine of school, the assemblies make our education liberal by bringing to us bits of music, views on history, and eminent personalities.

By the strains of the piano, all Lindblom was carried into the realm of dreams. The artists, who made this instrument of wood, brass, and steel pour forth notes that filled our spirit with beauty were pupils of the school. The thunderous applause, which they received, was a fitting tribute to their genius, "ninety-nine per cent perspiration and one per cent inspiration."

On the day before Armistice Day, Lindblom paused to revive the horrors of a great folly; so that another would not occur again. After the introductory speech by the chairman, Mr. Lyngby opened the program with a violin solo. He was followed by the A Capella Choir which sang two songs. Taps were blown in honor of the dead in "Flanders Field." The Kellogg Peace Pact was dramatized. For episode, Robert Baumgartner recited "The Song of the Marching Men;" the curtains were opened, and the "Army of Peace" was portrayed on the stage. Let us hope that on earth the Army of Peace will be the only army.

Lieutenant Lofgren, personal aid to Commander Byrd on his expedition to the South Pole, told the students personal bits about a daring group of explorers. His dog Tom, an Eskimo Husky, who was born in the South Polar region, made his bow to the audience. The ovation Lofgren received was fit for a king.

Our assemblies are all well worth attending, and even the least important are splendid enough to remain long in our memories.

THE ALL-CITY HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' CONFERENCE

THE first All-City Conference of high school girls was held at the Chicago Woman's Club on Saturday, October 24, 1931. Every senior high school in the city was represented by a delegation proportional to its enrollment.

At ten o'clock, the girls assembled in the beautiful little theatre of the Chicago Woman's Club. The business session was conducted under the capable leadership of Mary Tudor of Lindblom, the President.

The President then introduced Miss Grace Coulter, the Executive-Secretary of the Central Eleanor Association, who spoke on Education and Living. She stressed the fact that education is living as you interpret it in the correct way, "an education which stops at graduation is not, in the true sense of the word, an education." Her final thought was that the world turns to the youth of today to solve many of the heavy problems that are distressing men at the present time. "Dreams," said the speaker, "are the prophetic guides of youth," uplifting visions of life as it should be. "Therefore" she urged, "hold fast to your dreams and pattern your own life after them." She left her listeners with the dream of Chicago as a much finer place for the coming generation, and a challenge to contribute their best to its development.

An interesting and important feature of the morning was the reports of the Round Table Conferences. The topics discussed in previous group conferences were; "The Girls' Social Experiences", "The Wisdom of Limiting a High School Girl's Participation in Extra Curricular Activities", "Mortality in the Membership of the First Two Years of High School", and last, "The Adequate and Appropriate Wardrobe of a High School Girl."

"The Birthday of the Infanta", a one act play by Oscar Wilde, was presented, as a climax of the afternoon, by the Senn Drama Club, under the direction of Miss Melita Skillen. This brought to an appropriate close an inspirational, educational, and enjoyable day.

THOMAS ALVA EDISON

The present-day world, as will the world for many years to come, mourns the death of Thomas Alva Edison, one who has done more for his country, and the world generally, than any man now living.

Born February 11, 1847, in the little village of Milan, Ohio, Edison's early life was one of greatest industry. He had but three months of school education, his mother teaching him the primary essentials of knowledge at home in a better manner than he could possibly have received it in the schools of his day. All his advanced knowledge came from the books he read, and at an early age, they gave him a great interest in chemistry. From this he developed an interest in telegraphy. He successfully carried out many clever money-making schemes before he was sixteen.

The patent on Edison's first real invention, a vote recorder, was secured June 1, 1869. Since that date he has patented more than fourteen hundred inventions!

Perhaps those inventions for which we owe Edison the greatest debt are his appliances to the telegraph, the phonograph, the incandescent electric lamp, the electric railway, the "talkies" in the moving picture theatre, and his war inventions.

Edison was a worker. His workday was from eighteen to twenty hours! At the time of his death, early in October, 1931, he was still leading this strenuous life, although, for the past two months, in addition to his life-long deafness, he had been afflicted with a weak heart, shaky nerves, and irritable organs of digestion, and was then in his eighty-fifth year.

Edison needs no tribute from us. His own inventions are a perpetual tribute to a life devoted to world progress and to the betterment of living.

Dear 6

The pageantry of yellow dandelions best symbolizes Lindblom's crowning pageant, the play.

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH"

LIKE the figurative goose in "The Goose Hangs High", Lindblom's standards, set by her past dramatic productions, also hang high. Thanks to a very competent cast and the excellent direction of the dramatic coach, Miss Grace Kiner, the play presented this fall maintained these lofty standards.

"The Goose Hangs High" was effectively staged, pleasingly costumed, and particularly well cast. William Sener and Beatrice Rayfield as Mr. and Mrs. Ingals were all that might be desired of the fond parents of Lois and Bradley, played by Marjorie Meyers and Berle Hufford. Marjorie as the lively, irrepressible twin was fascinating. Berle, as the other twin, equally as spirited as his sister, was more than admirable. Whitney Tarutis, as the eldest son, played a very convincing role. Granny, played by Sylvia Dubsky, was splendid. In her portrayal of Dagmar Carroll, Genevieve Basil was the personification of charm and dignity. As an old friend, Leslie De Vore was excellent. Louise Whalen as Mrs. Murdock, and Donald Farrell as Ronald, acted exceptionally well as the overbearing mother, and the rather submissive son. The politicians, with all their nastiness of disposition, were well portrayed by Clemens Kasprzyk, Irving Feinstein, and Joseph Leo. Miss Kiner should be congratulated on her splendid coaching which made it possible for the members of the cast to appear before the audience not as actors playing roles, but as people living their normal lives.

Though the glory of performance must go to the relatively small group who made their appearance on the platform, it is necessary to look behind the scenes and discover the immense number of people required to make a finished production possible in order to truly appreciate such a presentation as "The Goose Hangs High."

One of the most beautiful scenes in the play was that in the second act in which the lights were lowered to denote the passing of fifteen minutes. The red light from the fireplace fell softly on the silvery head and gray figure of "Granny" seated alone on the stage waiting for the return of the children. With the exception of the windows, through which a tranquil blue light could be seen, the rest of the stage was in darkness. Among the people responsible for the exquisite beauty of this scene are Mrs. Knehans, who was of great assistance to the members of the cast in choosing their wardrobes, Mr. Balling, who took charge of the lighting effects, the many assistants who worked under him, and Mr. McCauley, who was responsible for the scenery of the entire play.

It has been estimated that it was through the cooperation of at lease five hundred people that this play was made possible. When this number is compared with the number of people who actually appeared on the stage, seventeen, it seems excessively large, but when one considers that the ushers alone number one hundred, it appears more plausible. The ushering was under the efficient supervision of Mr. Bowman. Miss Edwards, with the cooperation of the art and printing departments, under the guidance of Miss Williams and Mr. Landgren, assembled the attractive programs. The box-office end of the production was very successfully managed by Mr. Rupprecht.

Perhaps the most important person in the whole five hundred connected with the play was Miss Kiner. Those who saw the presentation may feel grateful to a great many people for such a fine production, but they should feel specially grateful to its director.

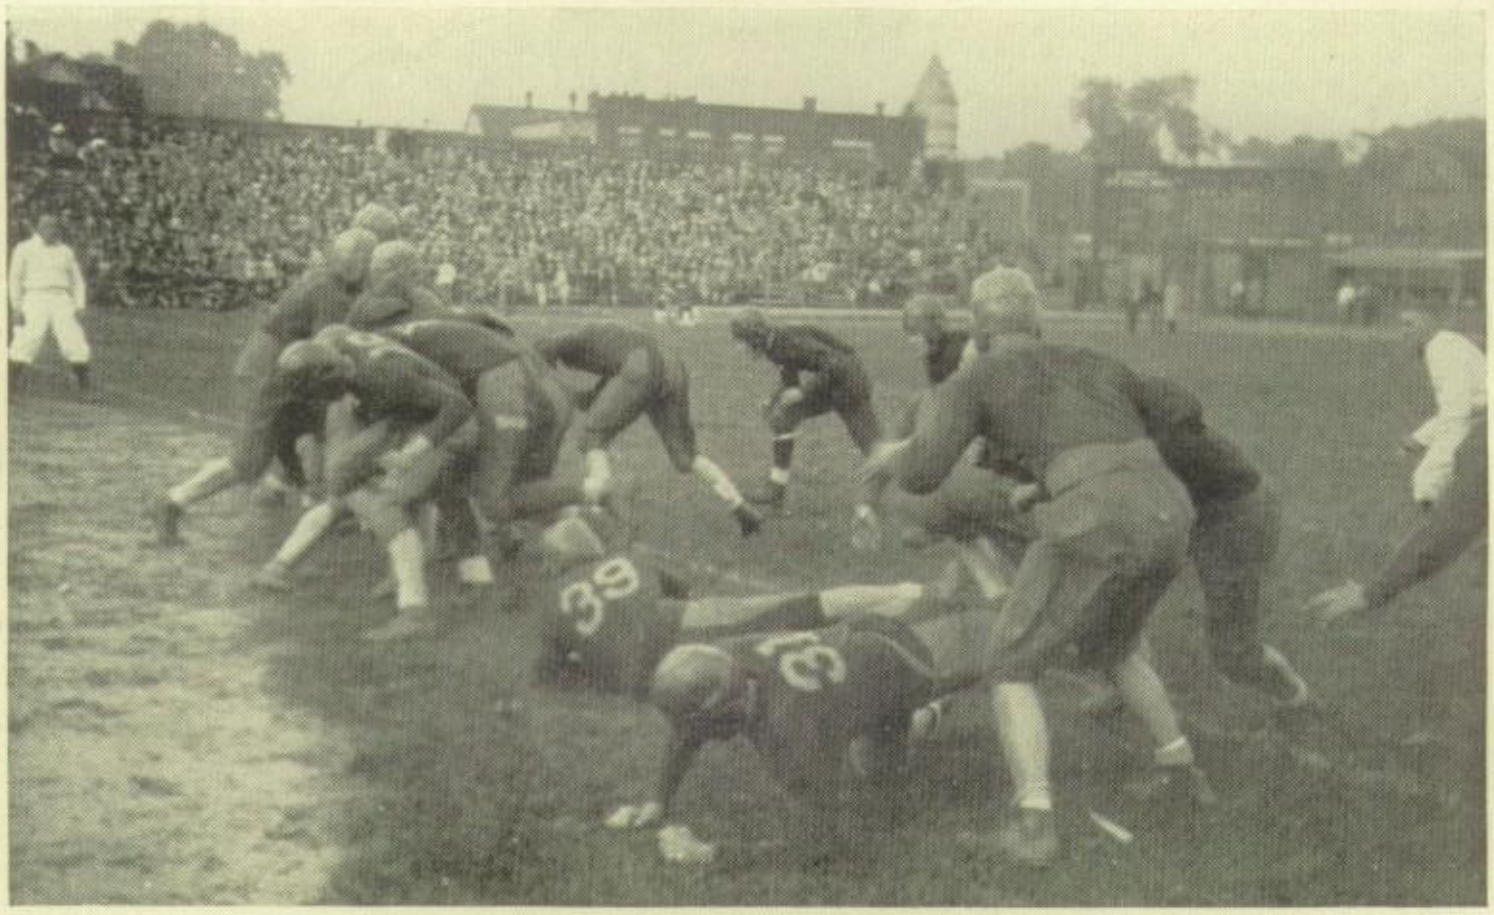
NON-LEAGUE GAMES

LINDBLOM started her schedule this year with a practice game against Emerson High, state champions of Indiana. After a spectacular series of line drives that netted the team forty-five yards, Johnny Russell was given the ball, which he took over on the third try. The kick failed, but Lindblom had a lead which she held until the last few minutes of the play. Then Gary managed to push the ball over and tie up the game. It ended 6-6.

What a lot of difference just one week's practice makes. The following week the second team played Hinsdale, beating them 6-0. Near the end of the first quarter, Coach Moore sent in a flock of "subs," who immediately proceeded to go through and around the Hinsdale line for a touchdown. Martin, left half, was the Maroon scorer. After the attempt for the extra point, the game went back and forth across the field, neither team seeming to have much advantage over the other, and ended Lindblom's first down on Hinsdale's six-yard line.

The following week saw the conquest of Champaign in the Maroon's first attempt at night football. The battle ended 27-13, with Lindblom happy.

The last of our non-league games did not end quite so happily as did the others. Harrison just managed to go us one better in getting the ball across the line, but what a battle! It seemed that the game was going to end a tie, but in the last few minutes of play our last year's rivals managed to do up the game. Despite the fact that the game ended 12-18, our boys did some fine playing. The passing combination, Mack to Galetka, worked to perfection, completing seven passes out of seven.



HYDE PARK GAME

WELL, they did it again. Once more Coach Moore has guided the team to victory over Hyde Park. Through and over a field, wet with three days' rain, the eleven managed to gallop to victory. Despite the fact that, due to wet fingers and slippery ball, the passing attack would not work, the team managed to beat their age-old rival, 13-6.

This year's game broke the tie between the rival schools. For the last thirteen years this competition has been going on. It was six games for Lindblom and six for Hyde Park at the close of the season last year. We now lead them by one game.

The Hyde Park eleven faced a much stronger line than did Harrison the week before.

The first touchdown of the game was made by Johnny Russell after he had run 12 yards. Andre Shunas dived through center for the extra point, bringing the score to 7-0. Shortly afterward Coach Moore sent in the second team. They, however, could not hold down the fighting Hyde Parkers, who, after some serious pushing of the ball, landed it behind the goal line. The play was a pass from Velde to Kincy, who was standing behind the line when he caught it. From that time until the end of the half, neither team accomplished much.

Soon after the beginning of the first half, Lindblom began her spectacular march down the field. The boys received the ball on their own thirty-five yard line after a punt by their opponents. Then began that famous drive rivaling that of Alexander's phalanx. Stopping for nothing, Andre Shunas touched the ball down on the far side of the no-yard line and gave Lindblom the lead that she retained until the whistle blew.

THE BOWEN GAME

AS FAR as competition goes, our second league game of the season was a total failure. Coming through for their second victory of the year, Lindblom overwhelmed Bowen 26-0, and it was beginning to look like 32 when the whistle blew. However, the game did give our backs plenty of chance to count the white lines on Bowen's side of the field.

Mack, Andre-Shunas, and Shipanik were the heroes of the encounter, each doing his share to run the score up into the twenties.

In the first quarter the captain put Lindblom ahead of her opponents. Shipanik missed the kick. Shortly afterward the period ended.

The second score was accomplished by means of a long pass. Captain Mack heaved the ball to Ansy Andre Shunas, who was thirty yards away. Shipanik did a good job this time and sent the ball through for the extra point, accompanied by the whistle of the referee, who was calling the half to an end.

13-0 and the beginning of the second half. After recovering a fumble on Bowen's 12-yard line, the maroon team gained a first down in three downs. With the ball on the two-yard line Shipanik stepped over, or rather slid over, the line for his share of the scoring.

Shortly afterward, Bowen became desperate and pushed our line up to the two-yard mark. There the line held, and got the ball for our backs on downs.

In the last quarter the boys had a long push for it, but they finally got down to the other end of the field. Once more Shipanik went over, rewarding the boys for their seventy-five yard drive. The final point was supplied by George Finlay, making the score 26-0, a perfect ending for our second league game.

THE TILDEN GAME

BEFORE the boys knew what had happened the score was 7-0, and they were awaiting the second kick-off. Tilden started the game off with a bang. Their back received the first kick-off and unexpectedly punted. What a surprise! From then on they steadily pushed the Lindblom invincibles back toward their own goal line. Finally the line held and it looked as though we would get our turn at the offensive. However, the boys couldn't do much against that line of Tilden's. Fourth down coming. The quarter called punt formation. Finlay fell back for the kick. Then in came the Tilden end. He blocked the kick and sent the ball several feet into the air. As the ball came down, Goeckel, the Tilden end, caught it and ran thirty yards for the touchdown. Ferguson successfully kicked for the point.

Then Mack came in and the team began to play football. The line stiffened as though a steel rod had been placed behind it, when the captain came in. From then on it seemed that Lindblom did the better playing, but they could never quite get over that last line. Several times they came close, but each time Tilden's line braced and held.

In the last few minutes of play one of the Lindblomites recovered a fumble, giving us the ball. Then began an attack, which might have been effective had not the game ended too soon. Andre Shunas drove through several times, and then, just as the whistle blew, Mack completed a pass to Galetka.

Dubsky gave some fine exhibitions of tackling that afternoon. Dave Sohr, who had been missing for several weeks, due to injuries, played his typical faultless game, and Captain Mack did his usual good work at kicking.

THE ENGLEWOOD GAME

IN THE Englewood contest, the boys certainly made up for their loss of the Tilden game. Finishing up the season's battles with this game, the Maroon and gold team once more "brought home the bacon." 26-7 certainly shows superiority.

John Russell was the chief scorer of the day, making three of the four touchdowns and gaining a total of one hundred and thirty-three yards. Because of some minor injuries Johnny had not been able to play in all the games, and the team certainly missed him when he was out.

The first score of the game was made by Harry Shipanik. After intercepting a pass, Harry made a spectacular 61-yard run for the first touchdown of the game.

Nothing more happened until the third quarter. It was during that period that Galetka intercepted an Englewood pass and ran forty yards before he was downed on the twenty-eight yard line. Russell and Andre Shunas alternated at taking the ball until it was on the one-yard line. There Johnny again carried it and went over for our second score.

A little later Lindblom began another long march down the field, starting at her own twenty-eight yard line and ending at the other end of the gridiron. Russell started it off with a couple of yard-gaining drives; Andre Shunas also did some nice plunging. Then Ralph Mack completed two passes: the first to Andre-Shunas for 18 yards, and the second to Krause for 20. Russell and Andre-Shunas alternated at line bucking, and Russell put the ball over once more.

Our last score was made in the fourth quarter, following a series of plunges, featuring two long runs by Russell of 17 and 23 yards, respectively, after which he once more put the ball over.

"SOPH" football at Lindblom has never been what it should be until this year. Showing up all previous Lindblom lightweight teams and setting an example for all those to come, this year's Soph team came through its schedule without allowing an opposing team to score a touchdown against them. It left behind a trail of six victories, two ties, and one loss, due to a safety scored on them by Argo.

There is not room enough on one page to list all of the battles of our junior team, but a few outstanding incidents may be of interest.

The third fight of the year was against Lane Tech. Running all over the opposing team, the lights were victorious, shutting out Lane, 19-0.

The fourth consecutive win of the Sophs was over Senn. Once more Byrne Field witnessed the complete shut-out of the opposition. Ed Rulis starred in this game, scoring the two touchdowns. Nagrodski, the captain, also played a fine game, aiding in getting the ball nearer to the goal and scoring extra points, by his fine kicking. 16-0 was the final score, the odd points being scored in a safety.

The following week saw a no-score tie between the Sophs and the Oak Park Lightweight Varsity. Although the maroon jerseys were almost always in Oak Park's territory and once succeeded in crossing their eleven-year line, they couldn't quite reach their objective.

Lemont was the next team to be defeated, 12-0. Hoidas and Captain Nagrodski starred. The Sophs were keeping intact their record for complete shut-outs. Their final game was against Pullman and ended 0-0.

Mr. Stanger certainly deserves credit for his work this year in producing such a fine squad of Sophs.

LINDBLOM'S FOOTBALL TEAM

UNDER the leadership of Ralph Mack, the squad this year made a very good showing, and the whole school is proud of that team, even though they didn't get through to the finals.

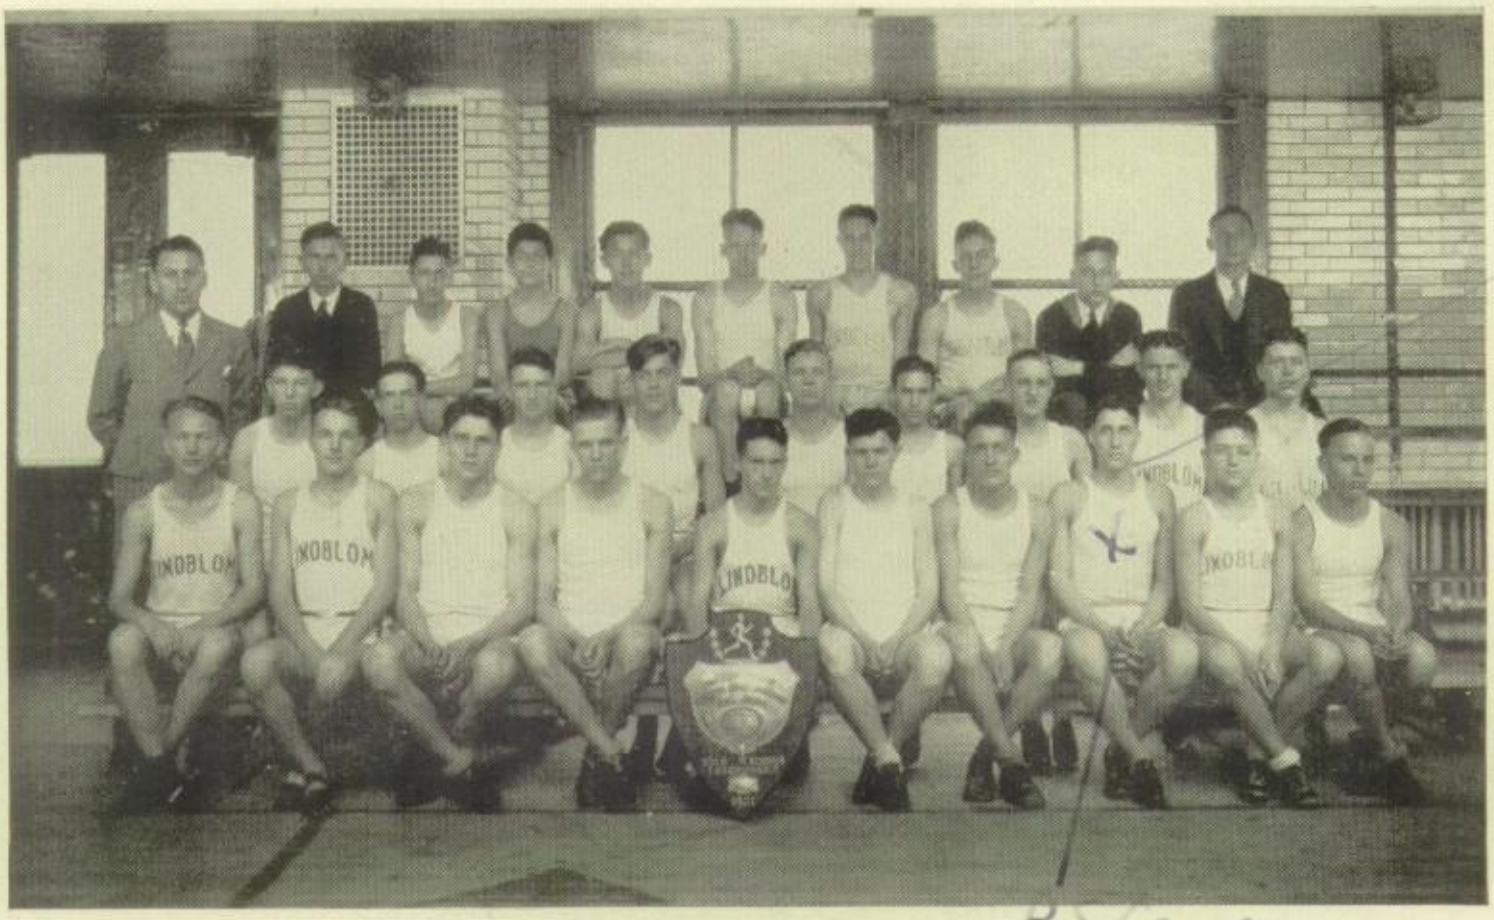
The whole league was an upset this year. It all started when Tilden beat Lindblom late in the league season. The following week, Hyde Park, who had been beaten by Lindblom 13-6, conquered Tilden, 7-6. This tied up the central section. Lindblom and Tilden each had won three games and lost one. By virtue of her victory over Lindblom, Tilden was allowed to play Schurz in the semi-finals.

The other semi-final game was between Parker, of the south section, and Harrison of the west section. Harrison won, earning her right to play in the finals.

Now comes another mix-up. The Tilden-Schurz game ended 0-0, causing a triple tie, Lindblom, Schurz, and Tilden. Lindblom was not included in the toss-up, and thereby her new hope was lost. Schurz won the right to play, and upon her rested the hopes of both Lindblom and Tilden for city honors.

Schurz represented us poorly, for, after all our hopes, she lost in the final tilt with Harrison; and with that game went our chances for the city championship shield.

We're now looking forward to the next year's football team and wondering how the boys will make out in the coming season. George Finlay, brother of the captain of two years ago, has been elected next year's captain. Assisting him will be several of the men of this year's team, including several promising backfield men and some good tough linemen. The prospects of the football team for 1932 do look very bright.



THE CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM

ONE of the many fields in which Lindblom's representatives are outstanding is track. For the fourth successive season Lindblom's cross-country team has taken first place in the annual meet. Under the able leadership of Captain "Stan" Evaskus and the tireless coaching of Mr. Topper, the Eagle Team trained so effectively, that, in the recent meet, they were able to outclass all opponents and bring home the shield.

The five Maroon runners to score in the counting were: Harry Clayton, second; Stanley Evaskus, third; Emmett McGrath, eighth; Harry Rogers, tenth; and Anthony Amelianovich, twenty-fourth; totaling in all forty-seven points as compared with fifty-one of Tilden, the nearest rival.

In the newly established novice division Lindblom distinguished herself by placing five men among the first ten to finish. Hahl, after having fallen in the first lap, recovered and placed fourth in the meet, being the first Lindblom runner to cross the finish line. The other four who scored in the novice division are: Houghton, sixth; Chap, eighth; Verbickas, ninth; and Jacknik, tenth.

Earlier in the season the track team held an inter-class cross-country run, in which anyone was invited to participate. The purpose of the meet was two-fold. First, to call out any new candidates who might make good material for the team. Second, to give the boys already on the team the experience of competitive running.

The Seniors were victorious, scoring only twenty-three points. The lower classes followed in order, each approximately doubling the score of its predecessors; Juniors, 44; Sophs, 74; Freshmen, 158.

Most graceful of all flowers, yet strong, the lily characterizes the best qualities of the girl athlete.

THE G. A. A. BOARD

TO BE a member of the G. A. A. Board is one of the fondest desires of every girl athlete of Lindblom. Unfortunately, only fifteen girls are given the distinctive honor of representing the various positions that compose the Board. Their positions are not only honorary, however, for they involve concentrated attention to duty and demand much time and service.

Every Monday during the eighth period the girls meet, under the direction of Miss Klein, to plan and develop the many projects that enter the school semester in the gym. At these meetings blue and white are the predominating colors for the girls wear their distinctive blue jackets and white dresses.

Many changes in the membership of the Board were made this semester. Katherine Manseau was elected president of the organization and Annabelle Blyth was made vice-president. June Berghaus was elected secretary. Antoinette Rocco is the new representative of gym-at-large. The newly appointed representatives of sports are as follows; Florence Calbeck, Team games; Evadine De Koker, Golf; Adeline Jankauskis, Swimming; Elizabeth Motley, Fencing; Elinor Sorenson, Skating; and Mildred Mankus, Hockey.

A new addition has been made to the Board, that of Student Advisor. This position is held by Helen Vlazny, a Post Graduate.

Each semester the G. A. A. Board sponsors one "big event" which is held in the gym. A charity dance in the form of a Thanksgiving Hop, attended by both girls and boys, was given this semester. The proceeds of the dance were given to the worthy cause of the Student Welfare Fund. The dance was a complete success, through the combined efforts of Miss Klein and her efficient band of helpers, the G. A. A. Board.

HONOR CAPTAIN BALL TEAM

TO BE a member of an honor team is a very significant achievement in the gym, for the girls selected to compose the team are the very best in the school in the particular sport for which they are chosen. To become one of the members of the team is not only important as an honor but one of the requirements to receive the achievement "L" cup given every semester at the G. A. A. Assembly. Each fall semester honor teams for captain ball and basketball are chosen, and in the spring they are selected for volley ball and indoor baseball. As in every athletic activity, scholarship is one of the contributing factors to gain membership on the team, and a girl must pass in four major subjects for two semesters, including the one in which she makes the team and semester before.

The tryouts for the Honor Captain Ball Team are, as with the other honor teams, selected from the Advanced Athletic Club and a few exceptional players from the other captain ball clubs. The team is selected by the gym teachers from the tryouts.

Those who made the team this semester are as follows: Elizabeth Motley, Ann Filipek, center guards; captain guards alternating at bases, Betty Sinowskas, Mildred Mankus, Jean Berryman, and Esther Kaspar; captains, Adeline Jankauskis, Genevieve Valvoda, and Marjorie Fandell; basemen, Katherine Manseau, Pauline Misitech, and Jeanette Hultquist; basket base, Ruth Fuhlrott; and Eleanor Sterr and Emily Sachs, substitutes. Elizabeth Motley was elected honorary captain. The judges were Miss Klein, Miss Hamer, Mrs. Kripner, Miss Murphy and Miss Callen.

As a bar signifies personal achievement, each member of the team received a red captain ball bar at the G. A. A. Assembly.

HONOR HOCKEY TEAM

HOCKEY is a sport fast increasing in popularity among the girl athletes of Lindblom. The prompt and regular attendance of the girls who went out for hockey this semester each Friday at Byrne field and the lamentations heard about the gym on the day before an important game as to the weather and the condition of the field testify to that.

This semester two groups, coached by Miss Klein, met each Friday at Byrne field. They were the advanced group, who played the eighth period and B division, and the beginning group, who met the ninth and tenth periods. Competition between the two groups became so keen that one team was selected from the two teams of each group to play against each other. Elizabeth Motley was the captain of the eighth hour group and Genevieve Valvoda captained the beginning group. The final score of the game, played with all the enthusiasm of friendly rivals, was two to one, in favor of the advanced players, after a fine exhibition of good work by the beginning girls and an ability to rally to the cause by the advanced group. The honor team was organized from among both clubs. At an indoor meeting of the club the girls were elected by the members with the approval of Miss Klein. The girls and the positions they play are as follows: Ruth Fuhlrott, right wing; Willa Hunter, left wing; Genevieve Valvoda, left inner; Elizabeth Motley, right inner; Mildred Mankus, center forward; Katherine Manseau, center half; Helen Tobin, right half; Helen Strmic, left half; Albie Hora, left full back; Lillian Andrews, right full back; Alice Frank, goal; Pauline Misitech, reserve full back; Mildred Matthiesen, reserve goal. These girls, having passed in four major subjects, each received a hockey honor bar at the G. A. A. Assembly.

Miss Klein says that she has enjoyed working with these girls and hopes to get them out for practice next fall twice a week.

HONOR POSTURE TEAM

GOOD posture, besides being one of the significant features of health, is a recognized asset in the development of poise and calm. In an effort to encourage the acquirement of this distinguishing quality, the gym department holds a posture contest each semester. Every girl is eligible to enter the contest if she has passed the simple preliminary tests given in each gym class. Divided into the preliminaries, the semi-finals, and the finals, the contest includes standing and marching tests and tests in various gymnastic exercises.

This semester twenty-five girls, selected from the hundreds of girls in school, competed in the finals. As this is an achievement of some merit, the girls who did not place on the honor team were given oxidized posture bars. After the judges, Miss Rolence of Englewood and our own staff of gym teachers, had reached their decisions the honor team was named.

The first three places were won by Adeline Jankauskis, Antoinette Molengraft, and Pauline Andrews, receiving, respectively, ninety-two, eighty-five, and eighty-four points out of one hundred. The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth places were won by Appolonia Olezchak, Ida Lorenz, Ruth Porter, Thelma Erickson, and Gloria Nowicki, respectively. Edna Bradley and Catherine Manseau were tied for ninth place; Margaret Broadhurst and Dorothy Lauferski placed eleventh; Margaret Stange and Eva Giguvich were tied for thirteenth; Wilma Graz and Helen Schiefer tied for fifteenth place; and Louise Skiba was sixteenth. The unusually good material to select from accounts for the many ties.

Miss Courtenay and Mr. Keeler were among the audience who witnessed the contest and saw these distinguished students receive the laurels they so rightly deserve.

WINNERS OF L'S AND CHEVRONS

ONE of the letters most significant of perseverance, and hard work, is the maroon and gold athletic "L", awarded to the ambitious girl athletes of the school. The letter is a symbol of achievement and requires four semesters of constant athletic activity before it is finally awarded at the G. A. A. Assembly.

To win a letter, a girl must earn at least a thousand points, eight hundred of which are required points and the other two hundred optional. The required points include many things. Scholarship is an important requirement. The regulations are that a girl must pass in four major subjects for at least four semesters, including the one in which she is awarded her "L". A health chart must be kept ten weeks during the semester for two semesters, and a hiking chart covering twenty-five miles a semester must be kept for two semesters. Good posture is a valuable health asset and must be maintained or bettered by passing part of the A. B. C. posture tests for four semesters. In the proficiency tests given during the spring terms the "L" aspirant must receive a mark of "S" in one test or an "E" twice in two separate tests. Good sportsmanship at all times must be evident and a girl must be a member of an Athletic Club for at least two semesters. Points are also awarded for passing a physical examination given by a doctor. An "E" average must be maintained for at least four semesters in regular gym class work.

The other two hundred points are optional and may be gained by skating, hiking, dancing, golfing, fencing, and horse-back riding.

A chevron is awarded by earning three hundred and fifty points in one semester, two hundred and fifty of which are required and the remaining one hundred points optional.

HONOR SWIMMING TEAM

INDICATIVE of the enthusiasm and ability always shown by the girls of Lindblom in the field of athletics are these girls who have made the honor swimming team. The girls who compose the team are those who have received the Dolphin Emblem and the marathon swimmers.

The Dolphin Emblem is one of the most exclusive awards in Lindblom. Previous to this semester only seven girls in two years had received this emblem that signifies the highest individual swimming achievement in the school. Eight hundred seventy-five points must be earned to receive the emblem. At least one hundred seventy-five points must be acquired in each of the following divisions: diving, endurance, life-saving, speed-events, and stunts, making the wearer of the Dolphin Emblem truly representative of the all-around swimmer.

The marathon swimmers are girls either from the Dolphin Club or the Swimming Club who have swum, during the semester, ten miles or a minimum of eight hundred eighty lengths of the tank. Many extra periods in the tank are necessary to complete the ten miles, but the time is well spent, for besides acquiring a better mastery of the various swimming strokes each girl who completes the required number of lengths is given a gold marathon bar at the G. A. A. Assembly.

Each member of the honor team received a red honor swimming bar. The scholarship requirement is as usual—that a girl must pass in four major subjects to become a member of an honor team.

These girls are to be congratulated for making the team for they attained this achievement strictly through their own efforts, combined, of course, with the coaching of Miss Klein and Miss Hamer.

JANUARY 12—Slow realization dawns, and graduation is just two short weeks away.

JANUARY 15—Last Hall Program.

JANUARY 20—Issuance of Eagles. Don't tell anyone, but this year there is no "scrawling." Oh, yeah??

JANUARY 22—Class Sing, and expressions of disgust are portrayed on the faces of the victims, upper classmen who swear that their Sing will be better, but next semester history will repeat itself.

JANUARY 26—Class Day; our last luncheon, last rewards for the deserving who have acquitted themselves in a fitting manner, and, sigh of sighs, our last dance.

JANUARY 27—We present the graduation exercises to the 3B's, 3A's and 4B's. Shaky knees, chattering teeth and nervous dispositions predominate, as the speakers make their appearance before a critical audience. Pauline Contes provides amusement by tripping.

JANUARY 28—All good things must end, and it is with a feeling of something beautiful that has come to an end that we leave the place where we made many friends and spent happy, happy hours during the last four years. All's well that ends well.

JANUARY 29—The hall seems empty and there is something missing, for the Class of January '32 is now counted among the Alumni. Dick Reed comes back for a forgotten rubber.

Compliments of

A Friend of Lindblom

The idea for slow motion pictures came to its inventor while watching two Scotchmen read a lunch check.

A friend noticed Dugald riding along the street on a woman's bicycle. "How came ye by that?"

"I was walking out with Janet the other evening, and when we came to a dark part of the moor, she said, 'I love ye, Dugald; I love ye so much that I'll give ye anything ye like.' So when I had thought it over I took her bicycle."

A Scotchman was told by a doctor that his wife should have had her tonsils taken out when she was a little girl. He had the operation performed—and sent the bill to his father-in-law.

"Hello, Pal, lend me a nickel, will you? I want to call up a friend."
"Here's a dime. Call up all your friends."

McTavish was the proud owner of a new cash register. One day when an old friend came into the shop and bought a sixpenny cigar, the customer noted that McTavish pocketed the money instead of putting it into the drawer.

"Why not ring it up?" he asked. "You'll be forgetting it."

"Oh, I'll not forget it," replied the Scot. "Ye ken I keep track in my head until I get a dollar, an' then ring it up. It saves the wear-r and tear-r on the machine."
